

Essay 1: Car-free downtowns. My handwritten draft is photographed below.

My handwritten draft argues that downtown streets should belong to people. On festival weekends the main street fills with families and vendors, and local shops say sales roughly double.