

Page 1: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

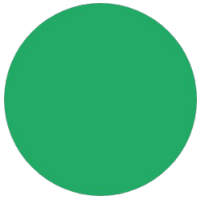

Page 2: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

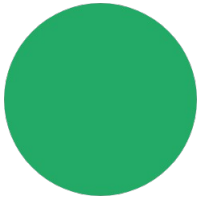

Page 3: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

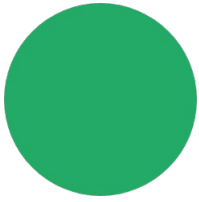

Page 4: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

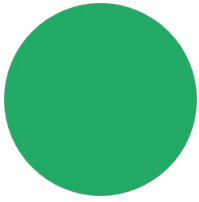

Page 5: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

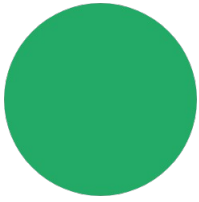

Page 6: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

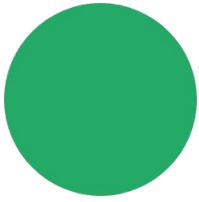

Page 7: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

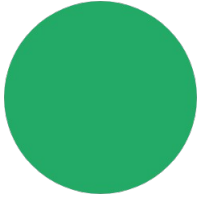

Page 8: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

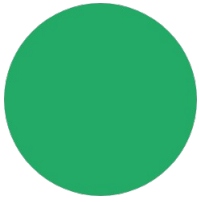

Page 9: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

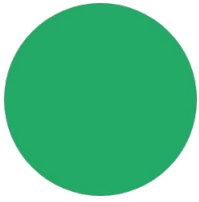

Page 10: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

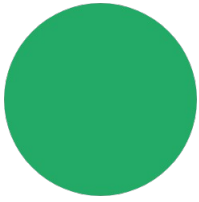

Page 11: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

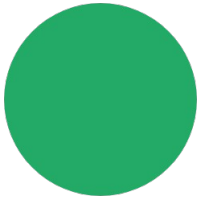

Page 12: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

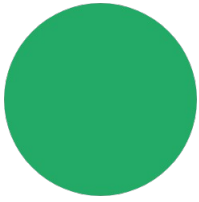

Page 13: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

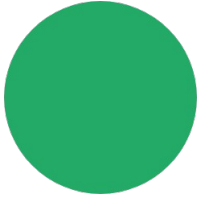

Page 14: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

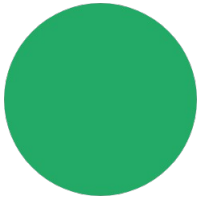

Page 15: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

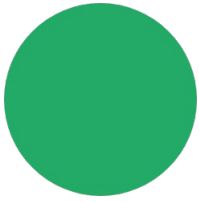

Page 16: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

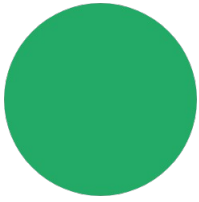

Page 17: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

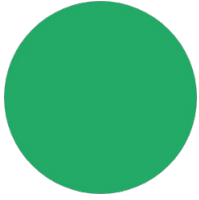

Page 18: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

Page 19: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

Page 20: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.

Page 21: streets become places for people when cars leave the downtown core.